

EM-Assist Selected by Air Force as EESOH-MIS HazMat Partner

SACRAMENTO, CA – October 26, 2007 – The United States Air Force selected EM-Assist as its partner to bolster the Air Force's nationwide Enterprise Environmental Safety and Occupational Health Management Information System (EESOH-MIS) expansion efforts. EM-Assist, Inc., a leading provider of environmental services and training solutions to government clients, will perform EESOH-MIS implementation functions at Lackland AFB and at five other bases within Air Mobility Command.

EM-Assist's information management division has been assisting the Air Force with environmental data system implementation for more than a decade, beginning with AQUIS in the 1990s, through WITS, HMMS, EMIS, APIMS, and now EESOH-MIS. Drawing on experiences from a large and complex Logistics Command facility, Hill AFB in Utah, EM-Assist will be migrating data from legacy systems to EESOH-MIS HazMat, quality assuring the data, and setting up best practices for ongoing maintenance. Dwight Bird, a Professional Engineer and EM-Assist's Vice President of Information Management, will oversee EESOH-MIS implementation.
